

I am a qualified horticulturist, with an Advanced Certificate of Urban Horticulture (Distinction). I have been designing and creating gardens in the Bathurst district (and elsewhere) for over 10 years.

Whether designing a garden from scratch or consulting on garden problems, I can ...

- Help you with garden layout and design.
- Help you choose the right plants for your garden environment.
- Help you create environments to suit a variety of plant types.
- Help you save time and money by getting it right first time – it's easy to waste money by losing plants that aren't suited to your conditions, or having to remove trees that were planted in the wrong place.
- Help you find solutions to horticulture/design problems in existing gardens.

I believe that ...

A beautiful garden need not be high maintenance

Careful grouping of plant types can minimize maintenance and help conserve water. Most of us have limited time for gardening – my advice on planning and design can help minimize your work and maximize your time for enjoyment in the garden.

Most gardens can be managed with a minimum of chemical aid

Carefully planned watering systems and spring mulching can minimize water consumption and reduce pests, diseases and weed growth. Recycling/composting, plus the use of natural fertilizers, can help you maintain a chemical free garden.

Good timing is essential

Whether planting, pruning, dividing or cutting back, the right timing will enhance your prospects of success.

We should try to understand nature in the garden, not fight it

With nature's help, and my advice, you can create a garden environment which, in time, will support a surprisingly wide range of plant types, existing in different micro-climates within your garden.

It's an exciting prospect – a new garden. Let me help you to realize your dreams in a way that is practical, manageable and economical.

3 reasons for seeking expert advice in creating a well planned garden

1
Maximize your enjoyment of your living environment.

2
Save time and money by doing the right things at the right time.

Enhance the value of your property.

Your garden is an extension of your home, and an important part of your living area. A well-planned garden will give you pleasure now, and be capable of developing and adapting to your changing needs, giving you on-going delight for years to come.

The consequences of your early decisions will be with you for a long time. You wouldn't want to build a house without expert help, so why take a risk with the garden? Take some advice to help you reach the right decisions from the start.

Real Estate experts believe that a well-planned garden can increase the value of your property by up to 10%. Money wisely invested in the garden will give at least as good a return as the money you spend on the kitchen or bathroom. Conversely, a poorly developed garden can reduce the value of your property.
